

Original Message from the Inventor

Today, after so many years of hard labor, I'm honored to present to my fellow citizens of the world what I consider could be the definitive solution to the Global Warming and the Energy Crisis we are just starting to feel at present time.

The time might have come to liberate ourselves from the constricting chains of energy supply. The technology I present to you today has the potential to convert into an inexhaustible and inexpensive source of energy for the foreseeable times to come. It might bring prosperity to whole mankind to levels never imagined.

I have designed "A Business Proposal to Save the Planet" in a way that any person in the world willing to do something to save the planet for future generations may be part of the solution. If after reading this document and the attached Patent Application you consider that these inventions have a chance to succeed for the benefit of all, then you are welcome to become part of the effort.

I want to appeal to common citizens of the world, environmental organizations, philanthropists and any conscious person to GIVE THE PLANET A CHANCE.

By making a small investment in this project, you could make a big difference in saving the planet for our children, and at the same time create prosperity for yourself and many others.

In appreciation,

Alberto Molina M.

August 21, 2006